Editor and reviewer comments:

Reviewer #1:

1. The abstract could benefit from providing a more comprehensive overview of the research methodology employed. Details such as the specific data collection procedures, sample size justification, and the rationale behind using multiple linear regression would enhance the reader's understanding of the study's rigor.
2. It would be valuable to elaborate on the significance of the findings in relation to existing literature. How do the observed results contribute to the current understanding of the influence of intellectual capital, innovation, and knowledge management on firm performance, particularly in the fashion sector?
3. Consider clarifying the specific dimensions or components of intellectual capital and knowledge management that were measured in the study. Providing this clarity will assist readers in grasping the nuances of the variables under investigation.
4. The conclusion regarding the lack of a positive effect of innovation on firm performance raises questions about potential underlying factors. It would be insightful to explore why innovation did not yield a significant impact and discuss implications for future research or managerial practices.
5. The keywords provided effectively capture the core themes of the study; however, it may be beneficial to include a few additional keywords that relate to the fashion industry specifically. This could enhance the discoverability of the article for readers interested in both general business performance and industry-specific contexts.

I hope you can make improvements as soon as possible and send the revised article again via this email.

Dear

Anthonius S. Hutabarat, et al.
Universitas Bina Nusantara Jakarta, Indonesia

Thank you for the team's efforts to make improvements to the article.
Based on the reviewers' considerations, the article has, at some point, increased.
However, the team has to improve on a few more points. Hopefully team are willing to do it.

Please follow the following revision instructions:

#Reviewer 2:

1. To enhance the robustness of the study's findings, it would be insightful to include a discussion on potential moderating or mediating variables that might influence the relationship between intellectual capital, innovation, knowledge management, and firm performance. Exploring these factors could provide a more nuanced understanding of the mechanisms at play.
2. The abstract could be strengthened by briefly outlining the theoretical framework that underpins the study. Clarifying the theoretical perspectives or models that guided the research would give readers a clearer sense of the academic context and theoretical basis of the study.
3. Consider providing more context on the selection criteria for the 10 MSME fashion companies in Jakarta. Detailing the specific attributes or characteristics that led to their inclusion in the study would bolster the methodological transparency and allow readers to assess the sample's representativeness.
4. The abstract might benefit from highlighting any practical implications derived from the study's findings. Discussing how the results can inform decision-making, strategy formulation, or management practices within MSMEs in the fashion sector would make the research more applicable to practitioners.
5. In order to establish the generalizability of the findings beyond the chosen sample and context, it would be valuable to explore the potential applicability of the results to different industries or regions. This broader perspective could enhance the article's relevance to a wider readership.

Articles that have been revised and please send them back via this email.
