Reviewer A:

In terms of novelty and contribution to related fields of science, this paper has fulfilled the requirements. In terms of the structure of the paperwork, it is also in accordance with the journal template that has been provided, the abstract is in accordance with the conditions, namely a maximum of 250 words. It's a good introduction with a clear background and has a strong gap in analysis. The introduction also contains the latest research and good contributions in accordance with the objectives of the research being studied. The research method is clear and systematic, with systematic stages and has a good flow chart. The discussion was good and already had clear and complete arguments with arguments referring to relevant and current journals. The conclusion is good and clear, and fit for purpose. References that are relevant and appropriate and in accordance with the main study of the research.
